

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: The Merry-Go-Round's Brass Ring, "good for one free ride," is herewith awarded to Edward F. McGrady, famed conciliator of labor disputes who recently resigned from the Government.)

WASHINGTON—A long list of headlines have departed the New Deal, but none left a hole so large or so difficult to fill as that caused by the resignation of Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady.

For four years he was the mainstay of the Labor Department and the President's ace trouble-shooter. In that role he traveled 165,000 miles by plane, and settled labor disputes in every line of industry from the making of needles to the building of battleships. He worked nights, Sundays and holidays. His only vacation was a five-day ocean cruise that he took with a grandson as a reward for the youngsters winning of a scholarship.

Quite as remarkable as this extraordinary record of unstinting labor and notable achievement was McGrady's modesty, and his loyalty to his nominal superior, Secretary Frances Perkins.

Miss Perkins is far from the easiest person in the world to get along with. Secretive and suspicious, she is very jealous of her official eminence. When she took office she balked for months at accepting McGrady, for fear he would overshadow her. It was only after General Johnson made him labor adviser of the NRA and McGrady demonstrated his remarkable talents as a conciliator that she asked the President to transfer him to her department.

Perkins vs. McGrady
Weeks often went by without direct communication between Miss Perkins and McGrady. On the several occasions that she personally attempted to cope with a labor conflict, she carefully kept him out of the picture—to her sorrow. In no instance has she settled a strike by herself.

Yet, never by a word or act did McGrady show impatience or resentment or seek the credit due him. Once, after Miss Perkins had laughingly rejected a suggestion by McGrady—which he made at the request of a White House adviser—a colleague remonstrated with him at his forbearance.

"I wouldn't stand for such treatment, Ed," he said, "everybody knows you are carrying the load in the department."

"I am working for Franklin Roosevelt," McGrady replied quietly. "He has to stand for a lot and I guess I can too."

FIR Devotee
Only a few of McGrady's closest friends know it, but he was all set to quit last December.

He received an extremely attractive business offer last summer, but he would not leave in the midst of a bitter election fight. The proposal was renewed after the election, and McGrady informed the President he felt he owed it to his family to accept.

"I can't make any argument against that, Ed," Roosevelt said, "but I need you badly. I wish you would stay until the coming session of Congress is over. I have a number of things that have to be done, and you are the only one who can do them."

Without hesitation McGrady again turned down the job, which would have paid him more than twice his salary from the government, and remained until Congress adjourned.

Poverty to Fame
McGrady began life 65 years ago in a slum section of Boston. His father was a day laborer, and the family of six lived in three small tenement rooms that lacked light and running water.

At the age of 9 McGrady went to work as a newsboy. There followed a variety of jobs—pin boy in a bowling alley, telegraph messenger, bellhop, mill hand. Then he became an apprentice pressman at a Boston newspaper. Simultaneously he joined the pressmen's union, and began his long career in the labor movement.

He also took a lively interest in politics, served several terms on the Boston city council and in the Massachusetts legislature. When he was 40 years old, McGrady was elected president of the Web Pressmen's Union and held this post until 1919. In that year the late Samuel Gompers summoned him to Washington to become head of the legislative bureau of the American Federation of Labor.

In this job he began his work as a conciliator. His experiences would fill a large volume with exciting stories.

JAP OFFENSE STALLS AGAIN AT SHANGHAI

Invaders No Nearer Decisive Victory Than Before

By JAMES A. MILLS

Shanghai, Sept. 11.—(AP)—I saw a lone Chinese aviator defy the spurring fire of Japan's naval aircraft tonight in a daring raid across the city just after dusk.

An unknown number of noncombatants was killed and the foreign areas of this teeming international city of 3,500,000 were again endangered by a shower of bursting shrapnel.

A day of bitter fighting ended with the Japanese drive inland stalled by the might of Chinese infantry when the lone attacker sped across the city.

Above the Japanese airfield he dropped his first load of bombs. Then he turned, dipped and roared over the Japanese flagship Idzumo. Two bombs dropped nearby the cruiser, in the Whangpoo, a Chinese target almost daily since the Shanghai war began.

The Chinese "devil dog," his damage done, sped into the safety of darkness. One could only guess at the damage, but there was no doubt that many more innocent citizens had died and that toward the Japanese airport, at least, the bombs may have found their mark.

The ultimate fate of the Japanese drive inland hung in the balance at the day's end, but the Japanese had fallen back slowly before the vicious Chinese counter-attacks.

Jap Drive Falters
Chinese said the Japanese had reached only to the outskirts of Yanghang.

For 24 hours the Japanese hammered the Chinese back in the Yanghang vicinity, but later they were forced to give up the section under terrific Chinese attack.

An aerial and artillery bombardment projected the Japanese movement slowly and inexorably forward. When the attackers reached the city, however, they were forced to retire after hand-to-hand fighting in which the Chinese seemed to have superiority.

At the end of 24 hours of relentless fighting the Japanese claimed an advance of two miles from previous positions.

In Yanghang itself, Chinese defenders fought Japanese to a standstill with knives, swords and bayonets, finally driving the invaders to the village outskirts.

Casualties in the battle were the heaviest of any since Shanghai hostilities broke out.

Mayor O. K. Yui announced that 60 Chinese civilians were killed or injured in a Japanese plane bombardment of Lungshua, south of Shanghai proper.

Pagoda Undamaged
The famous Lungshua Pagoda with its 500 red Buddhas escaped damage, but the police station was demolished, the mayor said.

STORMS, FLOODS CAUSE HAVOC IN WARRING JAPAN

Tokyo, Sept. 12.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Japan counted 60 dead, 100 injured, scores missing and extensive property damage today from a typhoon which crossed the heart of western Japan starting at dawn Saturday.

The 75-mile-an-hour storm sent high waves lashing along the coast. It struck Shikoku Island early yesterday and swept on to Kobe, Osaka and other ports of Honshu, the main island of Japan. Shipping was disrupted.

Kakawa prefecture of Shikoku island was hardest hit. In that area a thousand homes were inundated and two hundred fishing boats were overturned.

Inland property damage and damage to the island empire's shipping was extensive. In some sections the storm swept away crops which had been counted on to feed Japan's soldiers in China.

The storm and tidal wave struck ferociously along the southern coast of Japan's main island. Near Nikko, 80 miles southwest of Tokyo, 15 men were buried alive by a landslide. At least a score more were known to have been killed in other storm sections.

Okayama police reported three killed, 12 injured, and 52 ships shattered. Army reserves, who had been awaiting a possible call to action on the Chinese war front, were called out to deal with the catastrophe.

At Kochi, on Shikoku Island, two schools collapsed, killing three boys and injuring three others. The Kochi reservoir walls caved in. Flood waters mounted. Homes were demolished. Railway lines and bridges were washed out.

Tidal wave waters raised the flood to a height of 25 feet in some sections. At least 100 houses were submerged. Fishing boats ran aground. Electric power lines were demolished.

In Osaka, 600 houses were inundated. In Kobe 500 homes were under water.

Takamatsu reported 15 killed, 200 fishing vessels sunk and 1,000 houses flooded.

Dixon Post Office Sales Near Record

The year 1937 promises to set a new record for sales in the Dixon post office. Postmaster George Fruin stated today. The year 1936 set a new high for postal sales in the local office when the amount rose to nine per cent higher than that of any previous year.

The quarter ending September 1 in the Dixon office, showed an increase of 12 per cent in postal sales over the same period last year. With a substantial increase in receipts, Postmaster Fruin feels confident that at the close of the year, the business in the local office will far exceed that of the last year in which a new high record was established.

PROHIBITION OF LEFT TURNS IN DIXON REPEALED

Council Yields To Protests of Business Men Last Evening

The experimental ordinance which prohibited left turns at the corner of Galena avenue and First street, which had been in force almost two weeks, was repealed by unanimous vote of the city commission last evening. Before voting on the motion to repeal the measure, Commissioner Tyler told the council that it was only fair to business men who contended the ordinance was detrimental to business, that it was stricken from the books. Traffic had been expedited with dispatch while the ordinance was in effect, the commissioner stated, then added that business interests west of Galena avenue were objecting to the new ruling as well as East First street merchants.

After the council had voted repeal of the ordinance, a delegation of representatives of business houses west of Galena avenue, entered the council chamber to enter a protest, which when voiced, was halted by the information that the ordinance was no longer in effect.

Litter in Streets

Commissioner Valle informed the council of his intent to enforce an ordinance pertaining to the littering of streets, and requested the assistance of the police department. The street commissioner explained that trucks operating in the city were careless and had not complied with the city ordinance which provides that a certain type of box be used. He added that sand and gravel trucks were the chief offenders in scattering their contents on First street where the new surfacing is being damaged.

The condition, he said, did not exist alone on First and Second streets, but throughout the city. Commissioner Tyler assured him that the full co-operation of the police department would be available to enforce the ordinance and suggested that all trucking firms would be notified this morning after which arrests would be made.

Commissioner Valle suggested burning rubbish and refuse in the open, stating that it was most discomfiting to have fever victims of which there are many in Dixon at this time of the year. City Attorney Martin Gannon stated that he doubted the legality of such a measure.

Parking Troubles

Commissioner Valle suggested that the pedestrian traffic lanes on First street and Galena avenue be remarked and Commissioner Tyler informed the council that this was to be done very soon. In this connection, Commissioner Campbell suggested the establishment of preferential parking zones on the four intersecting streets at First and Galena to which Commissioner Tyler replied:

"The suggestion is a very good one indeed. Give me three or four more police officers and a couple of motorcycles and we will then be in position to give this suggestion a trial and arrest all offenders, but not until then."

The commissioner of public health and safety then stated that traffic problems were not alone confined to Dixon, but to every other city, large and small, in the state.

"Some of us have been making a continuous study of this problem for the last two years and it is not yet solved," he added. "I have decided that if the public would use the same courtesy in driving their automobiles that they use in their homes, that much of the present congestion would not exist. From my own observation I find that the majority of the younger drivers in Dixon do very well in observing traffic signals and signs, but some of the older motorists are not so careful."

In conclusion, Commissioner Tyler invited each member of the council to be present in police court when traffic violators are being arraigned, to listen to the various excuses offered in defense of the violators.

The only other activity before the council was the reading and payment of the regular monthly bills.

BANKER'S BODY DISCOVERED IN ILLINOIS RIVER

Bank President Is Unable To Repay Funds

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Deputy Coroner Glen Gumm reported the body of Benjamin R. Belsley, president of the Roanoke, Ill., state bank, was found today in the Illinois river about 12 miles north of here.

Belsley had been missing since Wednesday night, when he hired a boat at Chillicothe, Ill., and later abandoned it, leaving a note in which Sheriff Marcus Olson said he told of appropriating bank funds for personal stock and grain speculations.

Three fishermen found the 54-year-old banker's body, clad only in underwear to which a heavy stone had been tied.

The body was found near a picnic spot known as Walnut Grove, approximately eight miles from the dock at which the banker rented the boat. The fishermen rowed out to the shore and towed it to shore.

Deputy Coroner Gumm supervised removal of the body to a mortuary and prepared to call an inquest.

Find Clothing and Note

A wide search of the river had been carried on since Belsley's disappearance and discovery of the abandoned boat containing his clothing and the note. Sheriff Olson said the note read in part:

"In an effort to pay off the varied deposits of the Roanoke State bank. A appropriated from time to time bonds of said bank and, contrary to my fervent hope, my stock and grain speculations went against me. Now I am unable to return same when some of them are needed."

The bank promptly was closed for an examination by state auditors and C. P. Parvin, cashier, said bonds "representing a large share of the entire deposits of the bank" were missing.

Parvin estimated deposits and other assets of the bank at $343,000.

The bank headed by Belsley served the rural community of Roanoke, 40 miles east of here.

Sterling Woman, Dixonite Crash At Intersection

Mrs. Maxine Rinehart of Sterling, driving a car belonging to Neal Green of that city, crashed into a new machine driven and owned by Robert Ball of this city at the corner of Fourth street and Galena avenue last evening about 7 o'clock. Ball was driving south on Galena avenue when the Sterling car crashed into the side of his machine, throwing it to one side of the paving and against another parked car, the police report stated.

One side of the Ball car was badly damaged but the driver fortunately escaped injury. Two women and a girl in the Sterling car were also uninjured, except for minor bruises, but their car was damaged to such an extent that it had to be hauled to a garage. Patrolman Glessner was summoned to the scene and conducted an investigation. The Sterling women returned home on a train.

He estimated at least another week will be required to clear the checks out of the state auditor's office.

On Probation

Chicago, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Policeman Theodore Lambert testified that Larry Radkewicz of Berwyn was intoxicated while driving an automobile, but said he could not smell the man's breath.

"Why not?" asked Judge J. M. Braude.

"He had a goat in the back of the car," said Lambert. "I couldn't smell anything but the goat."

Radkewicz was placed on probation.

GIRL LOST FOUR DAYS IN WOODS IS FOUND SAFE

Berryville, Ark., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Fitful but strength-restoring sleep bolstered the belief of physicians today that four-year-old, red-haired Florence Jackson would recover from the ordeal of four days of wandering in wild Ozark woodland.

"It was more than the hand of man that saved my baby," were the words with which the mother, Mrs. Arthur Jackson, Chelsea, Okla., greeted the news that the youngster, haggard and naked, had been found. The blue-eyed baby stumbled yesterday to a Missouri farmhouse, seven miles from the spot where she disappeared on Monday. Seven hundred persons had participated in the wide-spread search.

Hurried to a hospital after the reunion with her hysterically-happy parents, the tot asked simply for a drink of water. She drank that and some warm milk, then fell into restless slumber.

Scratches from briars marked her legs and feet and her hair was matted with burrs.

The Jacksons and their four children, visiting relatives near Oak Grove, Ark., started Monday to walk through a woods to a sawmill operated by Mrs. Jackson's brother.

Florence, wearing only a light blue dress, bloomers, socks and new shoes, complained the shoes had rubbed a blister on her foot. She attempted to return to the automobile parked on a highway at the edge of the forest and became lost.

She said yesterday she threw her dress away when it became wet and matted up.

Second Robbery at Lumber Firm's Office in a Week

The offices of the Hunter Lumber company north of First street and College avenue were entered the second time in less than a week during the night. An employee discovered the robbery this morning about 7 o'clock and informed Patrolmen Jones and Bohmstiel, who summoned Chief Van Bibber.

Entrance had been gained through the same window which less than a week ago was shattered and two cabinets were rifled. About $35 in cash and a check in the amount of $57.75 was taken from one of the cabinets last night. About $50 in cash was taken over the past week-end when the intruders battered the combination of the safe and succeeded in reaching the cash box, which they emptied.

Superstitious

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Because "23" has always been an unlucky number for him, Harvey Coleman, 72, Des Moines, advised old age assistance officials he would be more than willing to have his $23 monthly pension check reduced to $22, or increased to $24. His request will be considered, officials said.

Oil Wells Which Net Age 1 Farmer $800 Daily Calls Them a Boyance

Olney, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Grizzled Oscar Poppe opined today oil wells are all right but they interfere with his plowing.

"I'd rather they didn't drill so many wells on my farm and drilled on somebody else's," he grumbled as he stamped through the barnyard to avoid three drill rigs putting down new wells.

He calculated his income at $800 a day, then groaned about income taxes.

"The government'll get too much, whatever it is," the 73-year-old farmer asserted, and refused to figure what his treasury would demand.

Oscar doesn't get excited about wells. He watered drillers swab in No. 7.

"It'll blow out in the pit and later be turned into tanks. That's all there is to it," he snorted in disgust.

Outward signs of prosperity are negligible. The Poppe farm house has a new coat of paint—but then Oscar planned that before there was any oil.

RUSSIA SEEMS AGREEABLE TO PATROL PLAN

Italy Wants Franco Recognized As Belligerent

Geneva, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The nine power parley on piracy in the Mediterranean reached agreement tonight on methods for combating attacks on merchant shipping, apparently with the complete approval of Russia, whose charges of Italian responsibility had kept both Italy and Germany from the conference table.

Russian Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff announced agreement among the conferees after the conference broke up tonight.

"We have reached an accord as to how we are going to fight piracy on the Mediterranean," Litvinoff said. "Our conclusions will be referred to our respective governments and we will meet again in a few days."

The agreement provides that Britain and France will maintain supervision over sea lanes throughout the entire Mediterranean. Two essential points are that Russia may, when she wishes, send warships from the Black Sea freely into the Mediterranean in defense of her national interests or to convey her merchant fleet, and submarines are liable to be sunk at once if they do not show the flag of their country.

Submarines operating in those lanes will be regarded as pirates if they operate in violation of the submarine protocol of 1936, to which most of the Mediterranean powers are signatories.

No Reaction Indicated

There was no immediate indication of Italian and German reaction, but possible dissent was seen because of such a patrol would involve British and French ships in operation off Italy's own coast.

The 1936 protocol, for humanization of warfare, requires that submarines of a country engaged in war halt vessels before torpedoing them, and save the crew or permit their escape in lifeboats.

Italy will be invited to participate in the anti-piracy fight, in other

Local Police Act on First Message Received on Radio

The success of the radio in the Dixon police department was demonstrated yesterday afternoon following receipt of a message from the new Sterling state police station, when Patrolmen Harry Jones and John Bohmstiel heard a message stating that a car, bearing a District of Columbia license plate, had left the scene of a minor accident east of Morrison on the Lincoln Highway. The officers went to West Everett street where they met State Officer Edward Mahan and at 2:20, they returned to the station with Ralph Lederer of Washington, D. C.

A telephone conversation with the sheriff's office at Morrison disclosed the fact that a woman who reported the accident had not given her name and left before this information was secured. The Washington motorist denied having been involved in a collision and was released from custody to continue his eastern trip. Ten minutes after receipt of the radio message, the driver was apprehended.

Dixonite Locked Up For Operating Car, Intoxicated

Charles Phillips of this city was being held in the county jail today on a charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition. Riley Hansen, also of Dixon, arrested with Phillips, pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge in Justice Fremont Kaufman's court this morning and was assessed a fine of $5 and costs.

State Police Officer Rex Flach arrested the two men about 2 o'clock this morning on U. S. route 52 about eight miles south of Dixon, as he was returning to his home in Amboy. Officer Flach filed an information in the county court this morning and Phillips is to be arraigned before Judge Leon Zick in the county court Tuesday morning.

PAW PAW NEWS

Paw Paw—The seventh annual Homecoming of the Paw Paw community has passed into history, and without doubt it was one of the most successful events of its kind ever staged in this village.

A perfect day, with wonderful sun shine, a cloudless sky, the attractive setting of the school grounds and the City Park, all contributed to the enjoyment and pleasure of the crowd, which was estimated at 3000. Autos were parked double on all streets leading to the grounds and lines of cars extended down to the main business street.

All committees appointed by President Harley Thomas of the Community club worked faithfully and tirelessly and a well executed program was the result. The crowd was in a happy, responsive mood and young and old participated in the scheduled events in a whole-hearted way. Those who labored so successfully for the big day deserve the thanks of the community and from the many visitors.

Sports Enjoyed By All

In the morning the sport activity consisted of a soft ball game between the Ashton girls' team and a colored girls' team from Rockford. This game was amusing for the crowd, as the colored girls furnished considerable comedy. The Ashton team got a big lead over their opponents in run production but the negro girls managed to get four runs before the end of the game, so the final score stood 5 to 4 in favor of Ashton at the end of seven innings.

The boxing matches held during the afternoon attracted considerable attention. There were five in all. In the first, Chester Gaines and Merle Zuber pecked away at each other. Erwin Gallagher and Norman Hopkins tangled in the second, with Jimmy Rafferty and Donald Gallagher giving the crowd a few thrills in the third. Earl Zuber and Melvin Peterson held the center of the stage in the fourth match, and the climax was a bout between Burnell Donaldson and a gentleman known as Claude Cowan of Rockford.

The ball game between Welland and Paw Paw completed the Homecoming activities for the afternoon. The game was very close and got quite tense in the ninth inning when Paw Paw rallied for two runs. Welland triumphed, however, with the final score of 7 to 6.

In the contests there were more entrants than could be cared for. The ladies entered the rolling pin event with much zest and also the clothes pin contest afforded much amusement. They were unable to obtain the names of the winners.

The youngsters entered the tire race with enthusiasm, and excitement was high to the very finish.

The running races were fast and the younger generation were up to the usual speed limits. There were seven entries in the decorated bicycle race, with Alice Locke easily earning first prize with her gayly decorated wheel. Eugene Henry won second and young Miller third. The speech of Dr. Karl Adams, President of the DeKalb Teachers' College, was along the educational line and the main thought was that we should be more modern in our viewpoint toward education.

Music was furnished by the Anderson Accordion Quartette of DeKalb and was much enjoyed by all.

Perhaps the outstanding drawing card of the day was the presence of Robert Wadlow of Alton, who is known as the tallest man in the world. He is only 19 years of age but stands 8 feet 7 inches tall, and weighs 450 pounds. He is a graduate of Alton high school and has had one semester of college work at Shurtleff. No description can give anyone an idea of the size of the young man. He must be seen to fully realize the phenomenal growth. He was accompanied by his father. Many autographed photo cards were sold during the day and evening. The broadcast of the big program over WLS brought many strangers to our town, who came chiefly to see this feature of the day. Young Wadlow was very pleasant throughout all the bouts that the huge crowd came to see.

The stand run by the men of the Community club did a flourishing business all day, while John Runyan's bingo game was crowded until late in the evening.

The Presbyterian Guild served lunch and successfully managed to appease the appetites of the throng. They were obliged to go to a neighboring town for further supplies after using all available material of the local stores, and long before the dance closed, the ladies were obliged to close up on account of not being able to get more food. Many picnic parties were also crowded about the park.

The picture show in the evening, consisting of a film depicting the production of Hi-Bred Seed Corn, a comedy, and the main feature film, was witnessed and enjoyed by a large assemblage.

The dance in the evening was a fitting climax to the big day, when the Nite Owls of Rockford furnished excellent music for the many who crowded the dance floor until the last note was finished.

Complimentary words are heard on all sides regarding the pleasure of the day and all hope for many more such events.

The Paw Paw public school commenced activities this last Tuesday, Sept. 7, with an enrollment of 147 students. The Community high school has 66 pupils, and there are 81 proceeding with elementary work. The number in the high

With the course of instruction altered somewhat to fit more adequately the needs of the students, it looks like this progress will be assured.

Tuesday, Sept. 7 the greater part of the rural schools in this locality opened for the year's work. There seems to have been a scarcity of teachers this fall and directors in some districts have been hustling to get things in running order for the scheduled opening. Fortunately cooler weather has prevailed over that of last week, when the thermometer registered in the high 90's, and teachers and pupils are feeling like getting started in real work after the long vacation.

On Monday evening, about 6:30, a small truck driven by Fred Boyer, crashed with an auto driven by Leslie Gordon of near Welland. The accident occurred at the intersection in the south part of town by the C. C. Faber home. The Boyer truck was going north and the Gordon auto was proceeding southward when the collision occurred. The truck was almost completely destroyed and the auto was badly damaged in the front end.

Mr. Seoyer suffered three broken ribs, but was not badly injured otherwise. He was alone in the truck. The driver of the auto, Leslie Gordon, received no injuries of a serious nature, but the other passengers in the vehicle were not so fortunate. His brother, Clarence Gordon, was quite badly hurt as he received several cuts on the face and a slight concussion of the brain. He was rushed to the Dr. Fleming emergency hospital along with the other injured passenger, John Smith, of near Welland, whose hand required ten stitches to repair the damage.

Enrollment in Local Schools

The grade school registration shows a significant increase again this year. Room enrollments are as follows:

Primary room—30

Intermediate room—30

Upper Grade Room—20.

Total grade enrollment—80

At the present time two rural schools, the Emmert and the Carthage schools are sending their pupils to the local grade school. Local districts having small enrollments have saved their taxpayers a neat sum by availing themselves of the opportunity to send their students to a village elementary school.

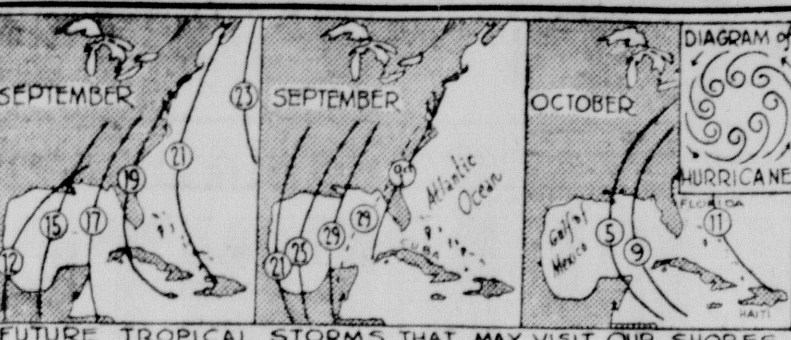

The Community high school enrollment this year totals 70. This is considered a good registration since both the freshman and senior classes are small this year. It has been the policy of the community high school board not to operate buses nor to attempt to recruit students from distant non-high school territory, since mere size of enrollment is no criteria whatever of a good high school.

A Real Success

The weatherman was especially good to the people of this community, for the days of Fall Festival. The weather was simply ideal for anything like a celebration. Cool enough to be refreshing but not uncomfortable. The evenings are pleasant at 2 o'clock at the home. A complete obituary will be published next week.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

FUTURE TROPICAL STORMS THAT MAY VISIT OUR SHORES

This is the season for tropical hurricanes. In the autumn violent storms sometimes sweep out of the torrid zone following the warm waters of the Gulf Stream, past our American shores. They visit Florida, Georgia, parts of Alabama, Louisiana, and Texas, and at times North and South Carolina, Virginia and New Jersey. Occasionally a belated hurricane will sweep New England and Nova Scotia. Where do these terrors of the tropics come from and where do they go?

Hurricanes are whirls in the air, giant whirlpools. Some of the larger ones may be several hundred miles across, but the small ones have been recorded which were no more than ten or fifteen miles across. In the northern hemisphere hurricanes whirl to the left sucking warm wet air in along the surface of the sea, lifting it into the sky, letting its vapor pour down as deluges of rain. Hurricanes must have a superabundance of hot wet air to live. If a hurricane runs ashore, it quickly loses its force and becomes an ordinary storm. Imagine, if you can, a great procession of thunder storms, one coming rapidly behind the other, and it will give you a general idea of what a hurricane, as a whole, is like. In the hurricane whirls there are a number of smaller whirls as shown in the picture.

The hurricanes of 1937 will mostly be moderate in force. Within a period beginning about Sept. 14 and ending about Oct. 5, there will be three families of hurricanes in the Gulf of Mexico and along the Atlantic Coast. Each family of these storms will move like companies of soldiers marching in echelon formation, each storm behind and to the left of the preceding storm.

A hurricane in the tropical waters of the United States sends a chill of terror to all the states nearby, because all know what these storms can do if they gather force. The destruction of the cities of Galveston and Miami show that fear of this is well justified by coastal cities.

The lower Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, to a lesser extent the Missouri Valley feels the effect of a hurricane as strong rain. However, when the hurricanes are raging on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, the delightful and the large crowd appreciated it.

The crowd this year for the three night exceeded that of last year. Monday night the band gave a concert, assisted by several numbers. The girls trio, Jesse Marvin and Jack Kelley with their guitars, George Fruit and Lowell Trottnow with their accordions. After which a street dance was enjoyed with the Ullrich orchestra playing.

Monday afternoon the Ashton girls played ball with the colored girl team from Rockford.

Tuesday afternoon all sorts and kinds of races were enjoyed by those present on Main street. Tuesday night found an enormous crowd in town. The fire works were grand. They far exceeded anything that has been shown in this county. The crowd was very well pleased.

Wednesday was Farmer's Day. We have been unable to get those who won the prizes. A band concert in the evening.

The amateur contest under the able direction of Mrs. Charles Schmucker Tuesday evening was especially good. The judges of the contest were Mrs. Will Link of Rochelle, Miss Brown of Ashton and Mrs. Wilbur Breuninger of this place. Following are those who entered the contest:

Wallace Heckman, trumpet solo. "Whispering Hope"

Don Zoeller, bass solo, won third place.

Unger Sisters, guitar and song duet, "Roll On."

Melvin Walker, song, "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" won fourth place.

Valley View Ramblers, Bob Calhoun, Charles Sanders, Ted Everett, two guitars and accordion.

Don and Irene Jesse, guitar and song duet.

Dick Stevens, Ashton, tenor, "My Wild Irish Rose" "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", won second place.

The Reager Tumbling Four, of Chana, Ill., Melvin, Marge, Leona and Sam, children of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Reager, former residents of this community. The children won first place.

Guest artists were: Burnell Hentert, guitar, song whistling.

Golden Calhoun, soloist, "My Cabin of Dreams", "Rainbow on the River".

Glus' trio, Darlene Buck, June Hatch, Jeanne Blank, "Sweet Leonie", "Dream Boat". The trio also led the community singing.

Jesse Marvin and Jack Kelley, electrical guitars.

Main street presented a real mid-way. All sorts of concession, highly decorated. The ferris wheel, merry-go-round and kiddy car, all added their help and did a good business. It was a good natured spending crowd, and stayer by the

JUST THINKING ALOUD

Two columns of space on the editorial page of the Des Moines Register are devoted to an article introduced by the following paragraphs:

"In printing today Jay Franklin's personal attack on Secretary Wallace we are following our regular policy of letting our regular contributors of critical essays say their say. The test of free speech is the willingness to listen to things that pain us mightily.

"Jay Franklin seems to be tremendously piqued because—or at least after—the president signed the sugar bill though Franklin had predicted that the president would veto.

The Register then goes on to fill its two columns to disprove or at least to disapprove every principal assertion made by Franklin in his attack on the record of Wallace.

Just thinking aloud we recall that when the late hostilities broke forth in Washington along the New Deal front, the Register was being served by Mark Sullivan as its chief Washington commentator and interpreter of events. Presumably, in order to issue a balanced ration to its readers, it took advantage of the offering of Frank R. Kent to sell the column he long had been producing for the Baltimore Sun, the leading democratic newspaper of the country, Kent being a democrat. About the same time, newspapers of the country were offered the column of Walter Lippman, who began writing under his own name when the New York World, of which he was editorial writer, was sold and consolidated with another newspaper. The World was the leading democratic newspaper of the northern states and Lippman was its mouthpiece. The Register accepted Lippman.

That looked like a well-balanced group of writers, but as events crystallized the Baltimore Sun and Kent failed to catch on with the New Deal. It wasn't the kind of democracy they had been fighting for through all the years of republican rule and before. So Kent and Sullivan were seeing almost eye to eye, and Lippman, one of our deep and advanced thinkers, was left to carry to the Register's readers the gospel of the New Deal. In the course of time, Lippman began to edge on to the bench occupied by Sullivan and Kent.

And there was the Register, its balanced corps of topline Washington commentators all on one side of the scale—interpreting the New Deal as against the American theory of government.

So the Register reached out and brought in a young man writing under the name Jay Franklin. The Associated Press soon disclosed the identity, which was being covered by an assumed name. As we recall the disclosure it was that he was on the Tugwell payroll.

Thinking aloud we seem to find the Register with a passion to feed something to its New Deal subscribers just to please them, even though it be spurious stuff. It could stand it as long as he defamed persons far from Des Moines, but when he chose the home boy for slaughter, it took two columns of Register editorial space to show item by item that Franklin was misleading by half truths or plain error, and that he lashed Wallace because he himself had made an erroneous prediction, which he didn't need to make.

Just thinking aloud, we note that the Register carries this character of an article by this writer every day, for which it apologizes to itself and its readers with: "The test of free speech is the willingness to listen to things that pain us mightily." And we wonder whether the Register feels it to be its duty to inflict this pain upon itself or upon its readers, as a "test of free speech."

Even if the test of free speech is to "listen to things that pain us mightily," is it the duty of a press with a conviction to purvey misleading half-truths and calumny as proof that it approves free speech and free press?

We do not believe it is.

Our policy has been to publish all the addresses and messages of the president, the chief spokesman for the New Deal, that were available through the Associated Press services; to publish all other official utterances in behalf of official agencies, if they were regarded by our principal news gathering agency as worthy of being delivered to newspapers it was serving. The Associated Press is an unbiased news distributing agency, serving newspapers of all political shades of opinion. Readers who have had access to its reports have been fairly served.

When a newspaper has provided that service, it has given all its readers a fair basis upon which to form their opinions.

Then, if a newspaper has convictions, and it should have convictions if it is to be respected as a voice in public affairs, they may be set forth on the editorial page by the editors.

We do not believe a newspaper gains in prestige by dodging an issue or by going to painful ends to bring about an exact balance in its columns on hotly controversial subjects.

Just thinking aloud, we do not believe it is the test of free speech to publish daily misleading half-truths that have to be disputed in adjoining columns or that it is a test of fairness to readers.

CORN ESTIMATE OF SEPTEMBER 1 2 1/2 BILLION BU.

Oats Harvest Larger As Tame Hay Shows a Slight Drop

Washington, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Administration leaders looked at the corn and wheat belts today to learn if new official estimates of large crops this year would increase pressure for a special session of Congress to strengthen the farm program.

Secretary Wallace, who has constantly urged the special session, said declining farm prices would bring this pressure and officials awaited market reaction to the new estimates.

The federal crop board reduced its forecast for corn, wheat, and some other harvests from a month ago in its estimates yesterday, based on September 1 conditions. But it noted that farm production would loom large compared with recent drought years.

Officials said the recent level of corn futures contracts indicated a farm price of about 50 cents a bushel or less, compared with prices near the dollar mark last year.

Although the crop board slashed more than 100,000,000 bushels from its estimate of this year's corn crop, the forecast was still more than 1,000,000,000 larger than last year and near the long-time average.

Corn is used chiefly as a livestock feed and the crop board noted that the number of pigs, cattle and other livestock was below normal.

Official Estimates
The agriculture department announced this year's corn crop, as indicated by September 1 conditions, would be 2,549,281,000 bushels, and the total wheat crop, 885,950,000 bushels.

Indications a month ago pointed to 2,658,748,000 bushels of corn and 890,419,000 bushels of wheat. Last year corn production was 1,529,327,000 bushels. The total wheat crop was 626,461,000 bushels.

This year's winter wheat crop totals 688,145,000 bushels, as compared with 519,013,000 last year and 623,220,000, the 1928-32 average.

All spring wheat production is indicated as 197,805,000 bushels, compared with 202,274,000 a month ago, 107,448,000 last year and 241,312,000, the five-year average.

Durum wheat indications are for 27,288,000 bushels, compared with 28,264,000 a month ago, 8,175,000 last year.

The indicated oats crop is 1,136,167,000 bushels, compared with 1,130,628,000 a month ago, 789,109,000 last year, and 1,215,102,000, the five-year average.

Cut Rye Estimate

Production of other crops, as indicated by September 1 conditions, with indicated production a month ago and last year's harvest, follow:

Barley 226,094,000 bushels, compared with 227,398,000 indicated last year.

GIANTS FIND SCHEDULE NOT TO ADVANTAGE

Must Play Five Twin Bills In Last 21 Days Of Play

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
A couple of "Simon Greegs" are snapping their whips at the Giants, and the Terry Terriers don't know which is worse—Boston's belittling Bees, or those old villains, the schedule-mixers.

They still had a two-game lead in the National League today, but between the Bees stinging them on one side, and the schedule-arrangers needling them on the other, there's not telling how long it's going to last.

As though their current series with the Bees weren't enough, what with a 2-1 decision the Bostonians took in yesterday's 12-inning opener, to widen their edge in the season series, the Giants looked over the remainder of the schedule today and found things had been fixed up just dandy—for the other fellows.

They noted they have five doubleheaders scheduled for the 21 playing days still remaining. But what provided an extra case of the deep blue blues was that four of these bargain bills are scheduled for four consecutive days during the last week of the season, and two of them were with (guess who?)—the Boston Bees.

Where Bill Terry wants to know, is he going to get eight starting pitchers for those four days, September 27 to 30 inclusive? And if he gets them, how is he going to knock off the Bees in four straight games.

Win or Lose

The way things are going now, it may come down to a case of win or else by the time his Giants tangle with the Bees and Phillies in those four straight doubleheaders.

At the moment, as the result of yesterday's setback and the Cubs' lop-sided 11-0 win over the Cardinals, here's the way the situation shaped up:

W.	L.	To Play
Giants	78	50
Cubs	77	53

Yesterday's struggle with the Bees was a swell ball game, but it didn't wind up right for the Giants. Hal Schumacher and Deacon Danny MacFayden hooked up in a duel as tight as a hangman's noose for 11 innings, but Prince Hal couldn't get Elbie Fletcher with the bases loaded in the 12th, and the Bees won their ninth win in 16 starts against the Giants this year.

Gabby Hartnett and Tex Carleton, meantime, slaughtered the Cardinals. Hartnett hammered two homers and Carleton tossed a six-hit, 11-strikeout performance to blank the Gas House Gang.

Lefty (Old Reliable) Grove handed the Yankees their second straight defeat, pitching the Red Sox to a 4-3 decision. But since the second-place Tigers were trounced, 6-5, by the Indians, in spite of Bobby Feller, it still left the Yanks with an 11-game American league lead.

The Pirates topped the Reds, 7-6, in the ninth, and the Athletics whipped the Senators, 5-3, on Bob Johnson's four runs-batted-in. The rest of the big league family (Phillies, Dodgers, White Sox and Browns) had a holiday.

Auto, Motorcycle Race Drivers Out For New Records

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 11—(AP)—With the harness horses vacating the New York state fair track, automobile and motorcycle racing drivers from all parts of the country prepared today for their annual dash for new records.

Qualifying rounds for the automobile and motorcycle races were pushed ahead to 10 o'clock today because of the large list of entries.

Headed by Mauri Rose of Indianapolis, national champion last year, and well up in the field this year, top notch automobile racers of the country entered the 100-mile chase for points for the 1937 championship.

The field of 32 drivers included Wild Bill Cummings, Indianapolis; Frank Brisko, Chicago; Rex Mays, Glendale, Cal.; Jimmy Snyder, Chicago; George Connor, Gary, Ind.; Fred Tegmeier, Egan, Ill.; Emil Andres, Chicago; Ted Horn, Hollywood; Shorty Cantlon, Indianapolis; Floyd Davis, Springfield, Ill.; and Billy De Yore, Indianapolis.

D. H. S. Gridmen Scrimmage LaSalle-Peru High Here; Cavaliers Bring Three Teams

Big Seven School Gives Lindell's Team Pointers

Three full teams of LaSalle-Peru high school football players and their mentor, Coach "Butch" Nowack motored to Dixon this morning and engaged Dixon high school's Purple and White griders in a lengthy two-hour scrimmage that primed both elevens for their opening games. The scrimmage was held at Reynolds field.

The scrimmage between the two schools was the first football contact either school has had with the other in many years and proved highly beneficial to the two coaches who experienced with their lineups at will and directed each play personally during the action. Each team was allowed eight downs before the ball changed hands.

Coach Lindell inserted a starting lineup composed of Nichols and Page ends, Naylor and Edwards tackles, Moore and Nicklaus guards, and Oakford center. In the backfield Ellis acted as quarterback, Burkett and Jensen halfbacks and Ankeny, Dixon's all-state fullback of 1936, served in the same capacity to demonstrate to the Cavaliers his pile-driving tactics.

Line-Ups Shifted

The LaSalle-Peru coach selected a starting line-up composed of Engel and Ebner ends, Donahue and Flannery tackles, Krolak and Walters guards, Sprit center, and a backfield consisting of Frier fullback, Krystofek quarterback, Gens and Renis halves, Flannery, a giant 190 pounder is a likely prospect for Big Seven all-conference tackle. Sammy Renis, 165 junior, who is making a determined bid for a tailback assignment showed class in scrimmage. This is his first year out for football.

Dixon's team underwent several replacements during the scrimmage with Page being shifted to backfield positions, and Salzman, Rinehart, Gemignani, Richards, Edwards, Daschbach and Bevilacqua all seeing action. Both teams tried a varied assortment of line plays, and passes.

L-P Drills on Passes

L-P filled the air with passes in an attempt to rectify an old weakness which cheated them out of the Big Seven conference championship last year. The Cavaliers lost several important games by only one touchdown last season when a good passing attack might have meant victory. This practice against L-P's passes gave the Purple and White team excellent drill on defense in this department. One long pass was successful enough to net for LaSalle-Peru what would have been a touchdown in a regular game. This was the only scoring opportunity that either team took advantage of during the scrimmage.

The Dixonites open their football season, Saturday afternoon Sept. 18th against Rock Falls, 1936 champion of the Rock River Valley conference. LaSalle-Peru will open its campaign against St. Bede Academy also of LaSalle before embarking on its Big Seven conference wars. They will play September 18th also.

Typhoon Breaks Up Jap-U. S. Contests

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 11—(AP)—Takayoshi Yoshioka of Japan bettered the listed world record for 100 meters today as a typhoon halted a two-day track and field meet between the United States and an all-Japan array after three events had been completed.

Yoshioka was clocked in 10.2 seconds in beating Allan Tolmich of Wayne (Mich.) university in the metric century but was aided by a 25-mile-an-hour wind at his back. This undoubtedly will make it impossible to obtain recognition of the mark.

MEDWICK STOCK AT NEW LOW IN BATTING WARS

Gehring Leads Hit Parade In the American League Now

New York, Sept. 11—(AP)—Gehring stock hit a new high and Medwick a new low on the big league batting market this week.

Result: Charley Gehring, the Tigers' "strong silent man," was at the head of the hit parade with a .387 average, while Ducky Medwick, not only ousted from the two-league leadership, was fighting to hang onto his national league pace.

Gehring clouted 11 hits in 29 chances during the week and wound up with a .387 average, 23 points better than his nearest American league rival, Lou Gehring, who dropped two points to .364.

Medwick, collecting only six hits in 30 official times at bat, nosedived 10 points to .378, and but for a more complete collapse on the part of Paul Waner, who managed only eight-for-38 and sank 11 points to .364, he might be even more closely pressed than he is.

As a result of Waner's wallowing doldrums, Gabby Hartnett, the Cubs' catcher, slipped into second place in the National league race with a .365 mark.

Biggest boost of the week was that by Cecil Travis, Washington shortstop, comebacking after a deep batting slump. He hit safely 20 times in 46 chances to raise his mark 10 points and deadlock Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees for third place in the American league, at .356.

Dolph Camilli of the Phillies, increased his average to .333 and made the National league's top 10 for the first time this year.

Little's Record Unendangered By Canadian Field

Toronto, Sept. 11—(AP)—The remarkable 271 record set by Lawson Little last year with four consecutive rounds below the St. Andrews golf club's par 70, seems to be in little danger in the current Canadian open golf championship—least of all from Little himself.

At the halfway mark of the 72-hole test, only two players, Billy Burke of Cleveland, who won the U. S. open in 1931, and Lighthouse Harry Cooper, the perennial runner-up from Chicopee, Mass., were under par figures. Ralph Guldahl, 1937 U. S. open winner, was even with par after rounds of 71 and 69.

Burke has had two rounds of 69 so far to go one stroke ahead of Cooper, who shot a smashing 87 Thursday but slipped back five strokes yesterday for a 139 total.

A dozen strokes and twice that many names behind the pace-setter, Little came in with a 36-hole total of 150.

Chicago, Sept. 11—(AP)—With games scheduled on all four diamonds at Soldier field, the world's championship softball tournament began its rain-delayed program today.

Musketone Sick and Will Not Be Shipped to America

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11—(AP)—Cancellation of the October 8 international trotting duel at the Illinois State Fair came today with word that Musketone, European champion, will not make the trip to America.

Sep Palin, trainer of Greyhound, Grand Circuit star trotter, sent word from Indianapolis that the race was off for this year.

A cablegram from Italy announced that Musketone was sick and unable to cross the ocean to race Greyhound this fall.

E. E. Irwin, general manager of the Illinois State Fair, said he would invite Giovanni Maiani, Milanese owner of Musketone, to bring the horse here for the international match with Greyhound next spring.

E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Greyhound's owner, had agreed to a $40,000 purse for the first of the home-and-home trotting races. Cancellation came a day after Springfield underwriters of the race organized a racing association.

FLANAGAN TACKS NEW TANK HONOR IN RECORD BOOK

Retains His 440-Yard Freestyle Crown By 4:46 Time

Chicago, Sept. 11—(AP)—Big Ralph Flanagan, the one-man swimming team from Miami, Fla., was down to the last assignment today in his campaign for extensive improvement in the freestyle section of the amateur athletic union's swimming record book.

Flanagan added another record performance yesterday to his world record triumph in the mile Thursday, in retaining his 440-yard freestyle championship. He won the event by about 50 yards over Tom Haynie of the Detroit A. C. in 4 minutes, 46 seconds, almost three seconds faster than his own American and meet standard of 4:48.5.

Today, Flanagan was after another 880-yard freestyle championship, and was confident of erasing the American and meet record of 10:07.5, he set at Des Moines, Ia., last year.

Adolphi Kiefer, peerless Chicago backstroke, easily repeated in the 100-meters event at that style of swimming and lowered his meet record from 1:06.5 to 1:06.3. Ray Kaye of the Detroit A. C., dethroned Johnny Higgins of Providence, R. I., in the 220-yard breast stroke, and the Lake Shore A. C. smashed one of the oldest records in the book in winning the 880-yard freestyle relay.

Lake Shore, manned by Charles Wilson, Otto Jaretz, Irving McCaffrey and Kiefer, swam the relay in 9:20, clipping two-tenths of a second from the former mark set by the all-star quartet of Johnny Weismuller, George Kojac, Harry Clancy and Walter Laufer, in 1927.

VON CRAMM WINS POPULARITY OF U. S. COURT FANS

Happy Polish Girl Also Captivates Her Audiences

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 11—(AP)—Whether Gottfried Von Cramm wins or loses in his final tussle today with the rampant redhead, Don Budge, he will have established himself in the short space of 10 days as one of the most popular foreign athletes ever to visit America.

The feeling of 14,000 tennis fans who saw him defeat Bobby Riggs in yesterday's semi-finals after dropping the first two sets, and of the other assorted thousands who have watched him win his previous matches, was one of regret that the great German player waited until he was 28 to come over. Tennis—or any sport—could do with a lot of guys like him.

Pole Meets Lizana

Jadwiga Jedrzejewska, the happy Polish girl, and little Anita Lizana, the Chilean backhand artist, who clash in the women's final, also have made plenty of friends in their first visit, even though they cleaned out the home hen-roost. But neither of them has half the vivid personality, the crowd appeal nor, of course, the tennis genius of Von Cramm.

Whether Jedrzejewska (she pronounces it "yenny-owska") or Lizana wins the championship of the women's brigade, there's one conclusion that "inescapable": This country no longer rules the permanent waves. Helen Jacobs, last of the late, great old guard, couldn't win a set from "Jada," and Dorothy Bundy, the new hope, was soft pickings for the five-foot Chilean.

FARMDOMWORLD SERIES OPENS AT PLAINFIELD

Plainfield, Ill., Sept. 11—(AP)—Their tractors and multiple-bladed plows in top-notch condition, a score of rival plowmen awaited today the signal for the start of the 60th annual Wheatland plowing match on the Martin Fry farm three miles north of here.

Hundreds of spectators arrived at the far nearly to obtain vantage points from which to view the championship contest this afternoon. Known as the "World Series of Farmdom," the match is open to plowmen of the world.

A carnival air prevailed as contest officials went about the task of completing last-minute preparations for one of the farm classics of America. Although last year's champion, Otto Shroyer of Lily Lake, had not entered early, officials of the Wheatland association, sponsors of the match, predicted he would enter before the deadline.

More than 10,000 spectators were expected for the start of the contest.

Offspring of contests held in New England almost 150 years ago, the matches are conducted along lines similar to those which governed the original contests. Modern power equipment, however, has replaced oxen and horses and two and three bladed plows have been substituted for the single bladed cutters of the early days.

The original farm contestants walked behind the plow dressed in Sunday best, including a plug hat. The modern contestant drives a tractor and wears overalls.

BULLET BOOMERANGS IN ROLE OF METAL DRILL

Reno, Nev.—(AP)—It was a good idea that Anton Rager had—up to a certain point.

Lacking a drill to repair some farm machinery, Anton decided to shoot a hole through an iron bar. He seemed to be making progress when one of the rifle bullets bounced back and clipped away the top of his ear.

Rushed to Reno for medical treatment, Anton said he would buy a drill.

The looseness of clips and U-bolts is principally the cause of the breaking of spring leaves.

Libertyville Horse Holds Three-Gaited Tilt, Indiana Fair

Indianapolis, Sept. 11—(AP)—Golden Avalanche of Red Top farm, Libertyville, Ill., held today the three-gaited grand championship stake of the Indiana state fair horse show.

A near-capacity witnessed final events in the show last night. The Shetland pony championship went to Locust Flame, owned by Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Elmhurst, Ill., with Simmer of the Pat O'Hair stables, Paris, Ill., second, and Saint also of the O'Hair stables, third.

Captivation, entry of Mrs. Loula Long Combs of Lee's Summit, Mo., captured the heavy harness horse stake. Invasion, also owned by Mrs. Combs, was second, and Polly Ensign of Nan-Su farm, Highland Park, Ill., third.

Other first place winners included Admiration and Adulation, owned and driven by Mrs. Combs, ladies' Phaeton pairs; and Master Johnny, owned by Mrs. Thompson, Hunter Stake.

The world's largest stadium is at Soldier's Field, in Chicago.

GOPHERS' GRID TEAM ALREADY IS GALLOPING

Bierman Losing No Time With Thundering Herd

Chicago, Sept. 11—(AP)—Coach Bernie Bierman is losing no time in getting his Minnesota Gophers into full gallop for the 1937 Western conference title race.

Determination to live up to the reputation the Gophers established in the past three seasons was written all over the field as Bierman's squad of 70 candidates went through the season's first workout yesterday. Within an hour after the first whistle, tackling and blocking dummies were in use, and Bierman indicated the pressure will be on from now until the Gophers open against North Dakota State September 25.

At Northwestern Coach Lynn Waldorf greeted 70 aspirants who went through three hours of signal drill.

At Wisconsin Coach Harry Stuhldreher put 52 players through a five-hour drill which included chalk talks, calisthenics, signal practice and punting and passing sessions. Coach Irl Tubbs, making his Big Ten debut at Iowa, had 54 athletes with whom to work.

Zuppke Cheerful
Bob Zuppke of Illinois smiled as he noted the large number of huskies in his turnout of 86 candidates, while at Bloomington, Ind.,

Marines, Planes Are China Bound

China-bound on the high seas, the two vessels, above, were en route to Shanghai bearing different cargoes. The U. S. S. Chau-mont, top, carried U. S. Marines from San Diego to stand by to protect American lives in the Sino-Japanese war zone, while the freighter Wichita, bottom, bore a cargo of airplanes, consigned to an unknown party. Although the planes were of commercial type, and assertedly not suitable for military purposes, Japanese officials hinted that the Wichita might be stopped by the Japanese blockade of the Chinese coast.

Brother Accuses New Jersey Man Of Killing Girl

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 11—(AP)—Brother was pitted against brother today as Chester Pearce, 322 of Union, was held in jail on a warrant charging him with being a "fugitive from justice from a murder charge" in the slaying 10 years ago of May Belle Matheson, 19, of Roxbury, Mass.

His accuser, Prosecutor Abe J. David, said, was his brother, Leslie, 37, of the same address, who had been jailed on Chester's charges that he broke down the door of their home during a quarrel.

"The knowledge of this murder has been preying on my mind for a long time," Police Lieutenant Joseph Wiesbecker of Union quoted Leslie as saying.

Police Captain John McCarthy, head of the Boston homicide squad, left here today to confer with Suffolk county (Mass.) district attorney, who he said had "all the evidence" in the Matheson case. McCarthy said he would return here Monday to have Leslie sign a statement he gave "Implicating his brother" in the fatal beating of the girl in the Boston suburb Jan. 27, 1927.

Conrad Six was driving east on Third street and after having passed College avenue, the girl darted into the street directly in the pathway of his car. She was struck and knocked down but Mr. Six picked her up and hurried to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital, where, upon examination, it was found that she had sustained only minor bruises and she was removed to her home. Chief Van Bibber and Patrolman Bohnstiel arrived on the scene shortly after the accident and made an investigation.

Jap Offensive—

bombarded the Chinese artillery emplacements that have disorganized attempts to land Japanese troops in the heart of greater Shanghai.

The threat of disease remained in Shanghai, where authorities disclosed that more than 200 Chinese had been segregated because of cholera and that 20 new cases a day were being discovered.

Meanwhile the powerful Italian cruiser Raimondo Montecuccoli, one of the swiftest units of Mussolini's war fleet, steamed toward Shanghai with 600 men to strengthen the international forces in the war area.

In addition, 700 picked Sardinian grenadiers are scheduled to arrive Tuesday as reinforcement for the 800 Italian troops already in the war zone.

A far-flung evacuation of American residents from the perils of spreading warfare was under way. Officials predicted a majority of the 7,000 non-military Americans would quit the country within the next few weeks.

LEAGUE GETS U. S. STAND

Washington, Sept. 11—(AP)—The United States government instructed its diplomatic representative in Switzerland today to deliver to the League of Nations assembly, convening Monday to hear China's protest of Japanese aggression, copies of Secretary Hull's peace statement of July 16.

There were indications this government's presentation of Secretary Hull's statement "for the information of the league" probably would mark the limit of American participation in the assembly's deliberation on the far eastern crisis. The United States is not a member of the league and therefore is not represented at its meetings.

Nevertheless, observers here expected that American diplomatic and consular representatives would keep in close touch with the assembly proceedings and make full reports to Washington.

The secretary of state's statement of policy of July 16 stressed this government's advocacy of "national and international self-restraint" peaceful adjustment of international disputes and the upholding of the sanctity of treaties.

This statement was circulated to all the nations of the world and drew responses from more than 50 governments placing themselves on record in its support.

The state department instructed Minister Leland Harrison at Bern to deliver to the secretary general of the League at Geneva copies of the replies from all governments which commented on the statement as well as the statement itself.

STUBBORN RESISTANCE

Peiping, Sept. 11—(AP)—The spearhead of a Japanese advance thrust southward against stubborn Chinese resistance today along the Tientsin-Pukow and Peiping-Hankow railroads.

Japanese military occupation of the rich Peiping-Tientsin area of northern Hopeh province virtually was complete. Heavy Japanese troop concentrations along the two main railroads blocked communication with southern districts of the province.

The fall of Machang ended a 24-hour battle, one of the fiercest of the two-month-old conflict, in which two Chinese divisions and the remnants of the 29th army put up bitter resistance to Japan's march southward.

Fighting at times in water waist deep, the Chinese defenders held out fortified city for many hours after a terrific battering from the Japanese forces.

Torrential rains drenched the entire battle area.

Before facing the full force of Chinese fire, Japanese officials said their troops captured Lieuchien, across the river from Machang, and then built a pontoon bridge across the Machang river. Air raiders had reduced the town practically to ruins as the Japanese moved forward.

TO EXPLAIN WAR

Tokyo, Sept. 11—(AP)—Japan planned today to dispatch special envoys to three great powers—the United States, France and Great Britain—to explain her version of the far eastern war Japan believes will continue at least into 1938.

Their mission presumably would be to lay before the United States and other powers Japan's position in the Sino-Japanese conflict with an explanation of its causes and an outline of events in the undeclared war now devastating large sections of north China.

It was emphasized that the envoys who would lecture and give interviews, would not be official government emissaries but would be considered as representatives of the Japanese people.

FREEPORT SUICIDES

In April of this year more gasoline was used in motor vehicles than ever before in that month.

Hanging for Fun—That's Noose

Before a group of fellow magicians at Fort Erie, Canada, Joseph Ovetto demonstrated how to entertain by just hanging around. In the upper picture Mrs. Ovetto slips the noose around her husband's throat. His arms are bound tightly to the chair. Below, at left, Ovetto has been hoisted in the air, has freed his arms and is grasping the rope. In the lower right picture he is slipping the noose over his head, a second later drops to the ground unharmed. Notice the tow-headed girl in the plaid dress who watches perplexed, wondering and fascinated throughout the action.

The people. Business circles were said also to be considering sending their own representatives to talk with American business men for the same purpose.

China was understood here to be planning delegating similar tasks to missions to win sympathy for her cause.

It was learned authoritatively, however that the trio of extraordinary representatives, aimed perhaps at obtaining better "understanding" of the Japanese cause abroad and the sympathy of other nations, had not yet been designated.

Tokyo newspapers mentioned both Kikujiro Ishii, former foreign minister, and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, members of the supreme war council, as possible envoys to America on a mission somewhat similar to those sent the United States both by the central and allied powers during the World War.

Jockey Sent To Hospital After Fall From Horse

Collinsville, Ill., Sept. 11—(AP)—Willie Lee Johnson, apprentice jockey who has been riding sensationally at race tracks this season, will not be astride a mount at Fairmount park today.

Johnson was sent to an East St. Louis hospital for observation after sunny Sethina stumbled yesterday and tossed Johnson to the track. He managed to crawl under the rail before the other horses reached him. X-rays were to be taken this afternoon.

Johnson has won seven of the 20 races in which he has competed at Fairmount. Five times he finished second and five times he was third.

NEGRO IN RAPE CASE APPEALS TO HIGH COURT

Washington, Sept. 11—(AP)—Haywood Patterson, one of the nine Negroes involved in the celebrated Scottsboro case, appeals to the Supreme Court today in an effort to escape a 75-year prison sentence imposed by Alabama courts on an alleged attack on a white woman.

Twice already the Negro has been saved by the Supreme court from death sentences.

In 1932 it ruled Patterson and other defendants had been without benefit of adequate counsel in their trial. In 1935 it again ordered a new trial for Patterson and Clarence Norris on the ground that Negroes had been "systematically excluded from the jury."

At the latest trial, Patterson drew a 75-year sentence. His petitioner said Norris again had been sentenced to death.

The nine Negroes were accused of attacking two white women, Ruby Bates and Mrs. Victoria Price, on a moving freight train near Scottsboro, Ala., in March, 1931.

Patterson, however, was charged only with attacking Mrs. Price at his last trial.

His Supreme Court petition contended he had been deprived of constitutional rights because the Morgan county, Ala., judge refused to transfer the trial to the northern Alabama Federal District court.

High School Youth Is Given Life Term For Jealousy Killing

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 11—(AP)—Holly Sagerst, 16, high school sophomore, pleaded guilty today to the "puppy love" murder of Martha Markey, 15, and was sentenced by Circuit Judge G. H. Hoetscher to life imprisonment.

Sagerst murmured "yes" in a low tone when Judge Hoetscher asked him if he understood the "consequences of his plea."

"Then I have no alternative but to sentence you to life imprisonment," the judge said.

Young Sagerst confessed he killed the girl Aug. 26 with a .22 calibre rifle after she had told him she was going to have "a date with another boy." He later attempted to commit suicide.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

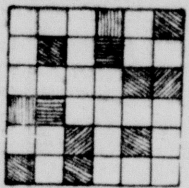

Mr. P. Tunia, the florist in a small town, was besieged with orders for flowers when a local wedding was taking place. He had prepared for the sale with many dozens of roses of different colors.

First a wealthy man came in and ordered half of all the dozens of roses in the shop. These were sold to him and an extra half dozen thrown in free of charge. The next customer purchased a third of the remaining and was given a third of a dozen extra. A bridesmaid got a quarter of what remained and three quarters of a dozen extra. Another person bought a fifth of the remainder and was given an extra fifth of a dozen. There were nineteen dozen roses left.

How many dozen had been in the shop at first?

Smith attended her sister as maid of honor, while Glen Anderson as best man for his brother. The bride wore a floor length gown of royal blue velvet with silver accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of asters and pink roses and on her head she wore a wreath of white pom-pom asters. Her sister wore a frock of brown with yellow flowers in her hair and a corsage of daisies and asters. When Miss Mildred Rhymer, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rhymer of Morrison, became the bride of William Huffman, she was attended by her cousin Louise. Mr. Huffman was attended by his brother Lafayette Huffman. Immediately following the reception which was held at the Rhymer home in Morrison, the two newly married couples left for Chicago where they spent the double holiday. Mrs. Anderson was attired in a brown ensemble for her wedding trip while her cousin wore mahogany alpaca with matching accessories. The young couples were classmates in Morrison high school. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are making their home with the bride's parents at 105 North McKendrie avenue. Both are assisting with the work at the Pasture dairy.

Miss Lois Lingel, who is leaving soon for Dixon where she will enter the hospital for training, and Mrs. Cecil Armbruster who will leave for Champaign Sunday, were the honored guests when the members of the Girl's Missionary circle of the Christian church gave a dinner for them on Tuesday evening. The dinner which was served at the parsonage home of Mrs. N. E. Bolinger was followed by a presentation of gifts for Miss Lingel and Mrs. Armbruster.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cox of Chicago visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox on Monday. The party dined at the Spoor hotel in Oregon.

The weatherman to the contrary, showers were in order last Wednesday evening when Mrs. Ernest Boydston, Mrs. Harold Alter and Miss Marie Miles entertained for Mrs. Calvin Kuntzelman at the Boydston home on Center street. Guests who were present to bring a shower of gifts for Mrs. Kuntzelman were the Mmes. Lulu Price, Clifton Weaver, Delbert Stiller, Tom Wilson, Willard Powers, Price Alter, Wullong Orth, Horace Hedgecock, Clifford Bry, Warren Shook, John Glatfelter and the Mmes. Ina James, Marie Brindie, Hazel Roller, Irma Armbruster and Helen Hedgecock.

Mrs. George Otis, who before her marriage in July was Miss Elaine Rothermel, was the honor guest at a shower party at the Pines on Saturday afternoon. The Mmes. Evelyn Avey, Charlotte Adams, Ruth Duffy, Marian Busker and Mrs. Gene Rouse were the hostesses to the large party of friends who brought a miscellaneous shower of gifts for the bride's Chicago home. Following the opening of the gifts the ladies toasted winners over the fire. Those who were present were the Mmes. Henry Rohms, Bert Stimax, M. C. Small, Forrest Kable, Elton Hill, Ed Rothermel, Henry Neppenau, James Smith, Lola Wolfe, Glen Hall (Chicago), Margaret Rowland, Earl Avey, Elmer Zumwalt, Luke Irwin, Cleus Walker, William Lawrence, Frank Garrison, Kenneth Bruner and the Mmes. Ruth Pieper, Opal Herzfeldt, Gwendene Miller, Mildred Blake, and Marian, Shirley and Marcella Hall of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Henderson of Dubuque, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henderson of Aurora and A. W. Mally of Rockford made up a gay assembly room for study. Probably the greatest advantage is the fact that this plan will emphasize school organization more, and class organization less, which of course is more democratic in principle.

On Monday evening the members of the Willing Worker's Sunday school class will meet in the parlors of the church for their regular monthly party. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kenderdine of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Kenderdine's sister, Mrs. Flo Lawrence of London, England, who will be house guests of Mrs. Zella Eversole, will be honored guests at the party.

Next Wednesday evening the members of the Homemakers' class will sponsor a penny supper in the basement of the church.

Wednesday afternoon the Ladies' Aid society members met in the church. Hostesses were the Mmes. Fred Pearce, chairman, Maie Stonebraker, Charles Tice, Sam Sheeley, Harold Davidson and Miss Fannie Stine.

Mrs. James Watt and Mrs. Charles Cox were prize winners when Miss Beatrice Horton entertained the members of the Q. P. K. bridge club on Friday afternoon. Miss Horton, who has been the number one substitute for the club for several years, used garden flowers for her centerpiece at the desert she served before the play.

A dinner party at the Lincoln street home of Phyllis and Robert Robbins served as the occasion for a last get-together, before the various friends separate for the coming year. Lieutenant Clarke Hyzer of Rockford, recently graduated from West Point, is to leave soon for Fort Sheridan where he will be in training until January, after which he will leave for China. His sister, Virginia, who attended the party will leave this week for Coe college as will also Robert and Phyllis. Present also were Miss Grace Jiracek, and Ward Zimmerman, who will begin his senior year at the University of Chicago.

Twenty-four couples enjoyed the tuncful music of LeRoy Garman's orchestra Friday evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Boston.

About one hundred members and friends of the Church of the Brethren were on hand last Friday evening to greet the Rev. and Mrs. P. B. Statler and son Harold when they were introduced to the assembly by Harvey Long. The company gathered for a potluck supper about the tables which had been attractively decorated by Miss Helen Barnhizer and Miss Mildred Dierdorff. The rich fall colors of the flowers which had been placed about the tables added much cheer to the room. The program was followed by an informal social hour.

Although Phyllis Lizer had to sit in the sun room and watch her guest as they played games in her yard, she was not too ill to open and enjoy the many gifts they brought her. The guests who were present to eat the cake and wish Phyllis many happier returns of the day were Dorothy Nunn, Doris Quinlan, Patsy Hilger, Iola Hagemann, Jean Lingel, Mildred Lingel, Mildred Rouse and Arlene Rouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kenderdine of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Kenderdine's sister, Mrs. Flo Lawrence of London, England, are expected in Mount Morris Saturday. They will be guests of Mrs. Zella Eversole until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Statler and son Norman of Arlington Heights are house guests in the Ralph Sawyer home. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schrader of Rock Island were also recent visitors of the Sawyers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hawkins of Moline were guests last Thursday in the home of the ladies' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jern. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins were on their return from Washington, D. C. and Canada.

About fifty members of the New Junction community club showered Mr. and Mrs. Novin Kitzmiller with wedding gifts at a party at their home on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barnhizer were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kitzmiller.

Following the regular procedure of registration, class assignment, and th emany other details of the first day, another year of school work is in regular progress for the 205 pupils who are registered this year at the high school. Forty four freshmen reported for their first year of high school work. The largest class is the senior group, with fifty six members, while the remainder of those enrolled are about equally divided between the sophomore and junior classes. The building had been put into excellent shape during the summer by H. R. Moody, the custodian. The old cloakrooms in the assembly room have been removed, making for less crowding in the study. A new plan of seating in the assembly is being tried, and so far is proving satisfactory. Instead of assigning seats to the pupils by classes, they are scattered throughout the entire assembly, so that the students are thoroughly mixed. A number of advantages are apparent through the use of this plan. It makes for less congestion as the pupils are passed to their classes, since the members of any one class are scattered instead of being grouped all together, which would cause crowding as the pupils go to the various rooms. With less crowding, it is obvious that the classes may be passed more speedily, and with less disturbance. This plan of seating also leaves a scattering of those pupils who remain in the assembly room for study. Probably

Byron News

By MRS. J. M. HEALD

BYRON—The remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Hatch were brought from Beloit last Wednesday. Mrs. Hatch taught school in Byron grades about 40 years ago and has many friends in our city. She is survived by a sister in Portland, Oregon and several nieces and nephews. Her husband preceded her many years ago. The funeral was held in Beloit.

Word has been received by relatives of Robbins Kendall of his change in location as vocational agriculture at Weatherford, Okla. Mr. Kendall has been a member of the high school faculty at Mountain View, Okla., since leaving Byron and this is another advancement. Weatherford is a city of 5000 and an advance in salary.

The first meeting of the Byron P. T. A. will be held on Monday evening at the high school building. The new officers are Dr. Gambriel who will introduce the teachers at the reception as president, Mrs. Florence Noyes, vice president, Mrs. Olga Young, secretary and William Anderson, treasurer.

Mrs. Noyes is program chairman, Mrs. Carrie Kennedy, membership; Mrs. Maud Holdorf, home and school aid; Miss Mabel Stouffer, nutrition; Mrs. Helen Pyper, parliamentarian; Mrs. Dorothy Rhyndholm, summer roundup; L. D. Ploff, music; Mrs. Reno Wetzel, emergency child relief; Miss Mary Morgan, publicity; Donald Farnik, finance; Mrs. Alice Welty and Mrs. Beulah Parks, room mothers. The meetings are held the second Monday of each month and a good attendance is desired.

The annual church dinner of the United church will be served on Sept. 16th and was postponed from the 9th. Mrs. C. C. Crickette is chairman of the committee. Miss Clara Hamaker has charge of the dining room.

Forty-five members of the W. R. C. surprised Mrs. Emma Taylor last Wednesday at the noon hour, taking a pot-luck dinner with them. They presented her with a very fine traveling bag and money. Mrs. Taylor expects to leave for California some time in October.

Mrs. Anna Emery and daughter, Mrs. Nora Embick will leave on Wednesday for Bridgeport, Conn., where they will make their future home. Mrs. Embick's daughter and son live in that city and they will make their home with them.

Several Byron ladies attended the full festival at Polo Friday, given by the Polo Woman's club.

Charles Reese, who has been seriously ill for some time is reported somewhat improved. His daughter, Mrs. Fendegast of Chicago is assisting in the home during his illness. Mrs. Reese is also in failing health.

Mrs. J. R. Darrah of Chicago is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Blanchard for a few weeks.

Miss Mary King Kendall who will finish her entire course at St. Anthony's hospital this month will be retained as hospital nurse after her completion.

Willard Witzeling has returned to Illinois University for his second year at that institution.

INCREASED ALLOTMENTS

Woodstock, Ill., Sept. 11—(AP)—Three sets of new-born twins are in Woodstock hospital.

Oats is the principal crop raised in Scotland. Barley comes second.

Boy, 16, Sees For First Time After 2-Year Treatment

Chicago, Sept. 11—(AP)—The Illinois charitable eye and ear infirmary said that 16-year-old Max Palmer of Homer, Ill., unafflicted with congenital cataracts, now could see for the first time.

Treatment over a two-year period by Dr. Thomas D. Allen resulted in normal vision in the left eye and 20-30 normal in the right. Equipped with bifocal spectacles, the youth now can distinguish objects, where before he could see only lights and shadows, physicians said.

Additional treatment was expected to result in normality in the right eye vision.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

AN ELEPHANT'S EARS

ARE A PART OF HIS AIR-COOLING SYSTEM! MUCH BLOOD CIRCULATES THROUGH THEM, AND HE MOVES THEM BACK AND FORTH, MUCH AS A DOG PANTS WITH HIS TONGUE.

LIVE STOCK.

AFTER ACQUIRING A TASTE FOR THE POISONOUS "LOGO WEED," WILL EAT LITTLE ELSE! "LOGGED" ANIMALS, AFTER ACTING PECULIARLY FOR SOME MONTHS, USUALLY DIE.

WHY the elephant waves his ears back and forth continually has been a mystery to the world of naturalists for years. Now it has been discovered that the ears, with their many blood vessels, act as a thermostat. By waving them back and forth, the animal draws air over them to lessen his body heat.

NEXT: How much gold has been lost in shipwrecks in the 20th century alone?

RINGS WORTH $3,380
LOST IN SCUFFLE
Manitou Springs, Colo.—(AP)—A friendly scuffle with another man cost L. P. P. Bottemer of Manitou Springs $3,380 in rings.

He took the rings off and placed them near a grating over a creek which runs through the town, then engaged in the scuffle. When the playful fight ended Bottemer's rings were gone, apparently knocked through the grating and into the waters of the swift-moving mountain stream.

LARGE LAKE TO BE MADE FROM ILLINOIS DAM

Men Work Day and Night To Finish the Project

Marion, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Working day and night, under flood lights, about 400 men are constructing a dam calculated to give this area one of the largest lakes in Illinois.

The dam will impound the waters of Crab Orchard creek at the Williamson-Jackson county line. The resultant lake is to serve the dual purpose of flood control and a hunting and fishing "paradise" within easy reach of Chicago, St. Louis, Evansville and other cities. The resettlement administration is conducting the project, planning a lake which will extend more than nine miles into two townships, varying in depth from four to 37 feet, with an average depth of 15 feet. It will cover 6,900 acres, or 8,000 at flood stage.

The government has set aside $1,400,000 for the project. As abstracts are completed, the administration is taking possession of 15,000 acres that already have been leased.

To Lease 27,000 Acres
Earl Howard, engineer in charge, said a total of 27,000 acres would be leased in plans which call for erection of cabins, boat docks, swimming beaches, picnic sites, and 37 miles of park roads.

The dam will be 2,850 feet long and 50 feet high, with a 200-foot base and a 450-foot spillway. The government is permitting farmers living on the land to harvest this year's crops and live in their homes until the impounding of the creek waters. Workmen are clearing land as deeds are completed.

Some farmers of the area began a movement this spring to stop the construction, but no suits were filed.

The government announced it had offered to compensate farmers with orchards and good improvements at a higher rate than for unimproved land, which comprises most of the area.

State highway 13, to be inundated by the new lake, will be rerouted.

DAILY HEALTH

DENTAL WELLBEING

By Iago Galdston, M. D.
No true measure of the amount of damage to the body resulting from diseases of the teeth and the gums is available. The problem is far too complicated for a ready and exact solution. Numerous authorities whose opinions are worthy of respect have expressed the belief that disease of the teeth and of the soft tissues of the mouth are responsible for so wide a variety of conditions as arthritis, heart disease, diseases of the nervous system, of the glands of internal secretion, etc.

It is not hard to conceive that these opinions are entirely valid, or at least substantially so. For if the decayed tooth with its abscessed roots and the diseased gums harboring a variety of toxin-producing bacteria be pictured as a break in the integrity of the body's envelope, it can be seen that all sorts of noxious agents can thereby gain easy entrance to cause a wide variety of pathological conditions.

This picture is no exaggeration of the actuality. It has been both clinically and experimentally shown that bacteria readily enter into the circulatory system by way of the diseased tooth. These experiments and studies have been reported in our column.

Decay of the teeth is probably one of the most widespread of human disabilities. In some communities as many as 90 per cent of the children suffer from caries. What connection this break in the body's "outer envelope" may bear to the numerous diseases to which youngsters as well as adults are subject has, as we said, not definitely been established. Presumably, however, the relationship cannot but be significant.

An attack on the problem of dental and oral disease must therefore be looked upon as a blanket attack on a variety of pathological conditions. Investments in dental care and in necessary restorative work in the case of caries, must pay large and lifelong dividends in better health. Attention to good oral hygiene is also extremely

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KAY DEARBORN—heroine who inherits a yacht for vacation.
W. L. F. H. A. R. D.—Kay's roommate and co-adventurer.
PRISCILLA DUNN—the third adventurer.
FORREST BROTHERS and GRANT HARPER—young scientists whose expedition turned out to be a rare experience.

Yesterday: Failing to find Kay or Grant, the party returns to the "Mistral" and there find a note warning "there is no chance to be of assistance to your friends." If orders they leave the island at once.

CHAPTER XIV

When Grant Harper and Kay Dearborn went down those dark, deep steps they fully expected some death trap. . . perhaps an abandoned well to smother them out of existence. Or a pit in which they would be at the mercy of the owner of that insistent voice that came to them out of the night's blackness. Clutching Grant Harper's arm, Kay found her mind filled with all sorts of fiendish possibilities. Step by step they went deeper, and she felt sure that each step would be the last.

"Here we are," the voice said. Then Kay felt the man brush past her, heard the unmistakable sound of a latch.

What Kay and Grant saw in that sudden flash of light they would never forget on this earth. It was a long, paneled hallway, well carpeted. Beyond was another door. Dazed, Kay turned to her captor. He was the same man who had taken command of the "Chinook" and from whom she had attempted escape. Easily he slipped the flashlight into his pocket, but the revolver he kept ready.

"You are surprised," he said with a smile. "Indeed, I have other surprises in store for you. I am proud of my little place. I find myself anxious to show it—after so long a time."

"We're not anxious to see it," Harper said evenly. "We're not alone on the island. You can't possibly—"

"Never turn down hospitality," the man interrupted with a strange gleam in his eyes. "That door ahead will take you into the living room. Please go ahead." The revolver moved ever so slightly.

APPENDICITIS IN CHILDREN

By Iago Galdston, M. D.
Children may suffer appendicitis. This is contrary to the belief of many who associate it only with adults. Acute appendicitis is comparatively infrequent in children under five, but its frequency increases with each additional year. Furthermore, acute appendicitis is a more hazardous condition in the young than in the adult.

Those in charge of young children can help greatly to reduce the death rate and the length of hospitalization connected to appendicitis in children, by bearing in mind the following points:

Whenever a young child has a gastric upset, think of appendicitis. Do not under any circumstances give the child a cathartic until the condition from which the child suffers has been definitely diagnosed, and then only on the physician's orders.

When operation is indicated, do not delay granting consent. The sooner after its onset appendicitis is diagnosed and the sooner it is competently treated, the better are the prospects for the survival of the patient.

The usual symptom associated with the onset of appendicitis in children is sudden severe generalized pain in the abdomen, sometimes localized below the angle of the ribs in the so-called "pit of the stomach."

Vomiting is a frequent symptom of acute appendicitis. Indeed, in a small percentage of cases vomchuckled pleasantly. "You must do what I say. You will find the place delightful. The electricity comes from my own little motorized plant. There is an air conditioning system, too. You'll note that the air is quite as fresh here as above. I have only one slight inconvenience. It does grow too chilled in the earth. Does it not?"

Kay shuddered, felt Grant's arm slip tighter around her waist. "Steady," he whispered. "Try not to show you're afraid. We may be able to . . ." He stopped as their strange host drew closer, opening the door from the hallway.

Ahead was a large room, paneled like the hallway, even to the ceiling. It was beautifully furnished, and the pictures and decorations reflected impeccable taste.

"There is still more," the man said. "But suppose we sit here for a moment. You both must be—tired after so strenuously trying to avoid my hospitality."

"Thank you . . ." Grant Harper shot Kay a glance full of meaning. "Of course, you can understand that we weren't aware of your intentions?" He settled in one of the huge leather chairs. "This is hardly what one would expect to find."

The other smiled. With a curious gesture he slipped the revolver into his pocket. But there was no doubt that he was still aware of it. "I am glad you find it acceptable. You will have to excuse me for a brief time. There are some things I have to attend to. Please feel free here. There are cigarettes on the table. There are sandwiches and a bottle of very good wine."

He started toward the door. There he turned. "Of course, it will do you no good to try to escape. I wouldn't advise it." With that he left the room. Kay and Grant heard the lock turn definitely from the outside.

IN panic, Kay started across the room toward the door. "Wait!" Grant said. "One thing we must not do—and that's lose our heads. The man is obviously a paranoiac of some sort. But that may be in our favor. At least he has nothing logical against us. He's not out for revenge against us in particular—so we may have a chance to dissuade him."

"But what can we do?" Harper smiled grimly. "For a moment, nothing. He said there out of bed late at night by a mob of armed men who said they were taking him for a "ride." "Having lived in Chicago," McGrady relates, "that meant only one thing to me. But after taking me about five miles out of town, they freed me and told me not to come back or they would shoot me."

McGrady was back the next morning.

During the great maritime strike on the Pacific Coast in 1934 he came within an inch of being killed, a bullet grazing his head during a riot.

Youthful Looking

One of the most remarkable things about McGrady is his youthful appearance. Although he takes no exercise, plays no sport, works 15 and 18 hours a day, laughs at diets and smokes almost continuously, he acts and looks like a man of 45. He is slender, brisk and dapper. A woman once asked him how he managed to "ward off old age."

"By never worrying about it," he replied.

"But surely," she insisted, "there must be more to it than that."

"Well," McGrady replied, "I am very fond of corned beef and cabbage."

Outside of his work, McGrady's only interest is his grandchildren. He has three, all boys.

He collects postage stamps for them, brings them gifts and has long discussions about football and baseball. Wherever he goes, no matter how busy he is, he always takes time to write each a letter.

While in Washington, McGrady lived with Mrs. Alfred Fleming, one of his two married daughters. The other, Mrs. Nathaniel Simkins, resides in Stoneham, Mass. His two sons died in youth.

McGrady is one of the best public speakers in labor ranks. Keen-witted and self-possessed, he always talks extemporaneously. But every address is carefully worked over in advance. He never speaks unless he is prepared.

He learned that lesson early in his career. During a local Boston campaign he was making a political speech one night when a man in the audience shouted, "We know taxes are high, but what is your man going to do about it?"

"We are going to reduce them," McGrady retorted.

"How?"

"He had me there," McGrady relates. "I didn't know how. It was very embarrassing, and I never forgot that lesson. I've had a lot of 'how's' thrown at me since, but I've never been caught off base again."

EXPLOSIVES STOLEN

Chicago, Sept. 11—(AP)—Police are wondering if the thieves who visited suburban Willow Springs actually realized what they had stolen.

The loot was 160 pounds of gelatin dynamite and 1,000 dynamite caps, taken from an outdoor storehouse of a powder and magazine company.
